Inspiration for the cover designs of the Member Directory and Retrospective section.

The cover designs for the Member Directory and the 65-year Anniversary Retrospective section found inside the directory are inspired by the cover design of an Annual Report that the Greater Baltimore Committee published during one of its formative years—1956. As the Annual Report from that year notes, the GBC was just two years old but was deeply involved in helping Baltimore modernize. Among the economic drivers mentioned were: accelerating the construction schedule of the Jones Falls Expressway, ensuring that a Port Authority for the Port of Baltimore was established and supporting bond funding for a Civic Center. These projects were each highlighted in artist renderings on the 1956 Member Directory cover. The 65-Year Anniversary Retrospective cover of the special section inside this year’s directory includes these past drawings and similar drawings that pay homage to key drivers of the regional economy the GBC supports today—medicine, higher education, financial service and convention and tourism business.

ORIOLE PARK AT CAMDEN YARDS IS WHERE BIRDLAND SUMMERS LIVE. CONNECT WITH YOUR AUDIENCE THROUGH CUSTOM PARTNERSHIP AND HOSPITALITY OPPORTUNITIES.
The first year of the new decade will be an active and exciting time both nationally and locally. The 2020 national election will garner the attention of a politically divided country that wrestles with the type of leadership that it desires from the White House and halls of Congress. Meanwhile, in Baltimore City, dozens of candidates are vying to lead the city as the next mayor and city council.

The business community and residents of Baltimore are in search of strong, transformational city leadership that will set forth a bold, aggressive vision focused on public safety, equity and economic mobility, quality education and workforce training, neighborhood stability and growth, inclusive economic development, and job creation.

While the residents of the country and city debate and decide on the direction for the future, the Greater Baltimore Committee (GBC) celebrates a milestone—its 65th Anniversary.

In January 1955, eighty-three business leaders joined together to form the Greater Baltimore Committee, an organization to provide leadership and direction to the growth of the city. Created to be an “action committee dedicated to developing solutions to chronic problems impeding the city’s business growth,” its founders recognized that “problems of civic improvement in Baltimore are so complex, urgent and diversified” that neither government nor the private sector could address the challenges alone so both must be a part of the solution.

The GBC was born out of an awareness that many proposals that would contribute to economic, cultural or social vitality fail not because the opposition was so strong, but because the support was so weak. The GBC’s role is to identify and champion the ideas that may lack a strong voice but have a significant meaning for the development of a greater Baltimore.

Milestone celebrations provide the opportunity to reflect on founding principles, celebrate legacy accomplishments, and set a forward-looking agenda that builds upon strengths and is relevant to the pressing issues of today.

The Greater Baltimore Committee will spend its 65th anniversary not by resting on its legacy of accomplishments, although they will be celebrated, but by rededicating itself to be the leading business advocacy organization focused on finding solutions to the challenges that stifle economic growth and job creation and enhancing the quality of life for our employees and the residents of the greater Baltimore region.

Key areas of focus for the GBC in 2020 will include:

- The safety and well-being of our citizens remains a top priority. Public safety is a primary and pressing concern for residents, workers, and visitors in the City of Baltimore. The GBC will support Baltimore City Police Commissioner Michael Harrison and his crime reduction strategy and advocate for the resources to ensure the implementation of effective law enforcement strategies.

- Active engagement in advocating for a new, regional vision and complementary policy and funding strategies to transform our inadequate transportation system into an interconnected, multimodal regional network that provides alternative modes of transportation; transit options that are safe, efficient, and affordable; and access to employment centers throughout the region. The GBC has long held that a key pillar of a competitive business environment is the existence of a superior transportation infrastructure that provides reliable and efficient options to move people, goods and services. As our region grows, so does the urgency to address this challenge.

- The GBC’s Regional Workforce Development Initiative was launched to support efforts to ensure that regional employers in high-growth industry sectors will have an educated and skilled workforce to meet their employment needs over the coming years. This data-driven initiative will yield recommendations to strengthen the alignment of education and workforce systems with projected industry needs and to prioritize resources accordingly. This effort is based on the understanding that a highly skilled workforce is an essential component for a competitive economy.

- Advocacy on behalf of the business community has always been a vital role of the GBC, and this year will be no different. The GBC will actively engage in policy matters in the Maryland General Assembly, Baltimore City Hall, and county council chambers throughout the region to advance policies that are favorable to economic competitiveness and oppose those that will hinder inclusive growth and prosperity. The GBC will support the visionary proposal of the City of Baltimore and Maryland Jockey Club to redevelop the Pimlico Race Course to preserve the Preakness Stakes in Baltimore and provide year-round community benefits to the Park Heights area. Policy and budgetary proposals to reform the delivery of public education in the state to provide future generations with quality education that prepares them for career opportunities will be another key area of focus.

- The 2020 elections in Baltimore City are pivotal to the future of the City and the region. As an independent, non-partisan organization, the GBC does not endorse candidates. However, the GBC has an important role in ensuring that voters are fully-informed about candidates’ backgrounds and positions on key issues. A significant initiative of the GBC in 2020 will be educating GBC member companies, their employees, and city residents about key races for Mayor, City Council President, and City Council.

The strength of the Greater Baltimore Committee lies with its members. Effective policy and programs are the product of leadership from our Board of Directors and active participation by employees of member companies on our policy committees and task forces. We encourage you and your employees to engage in our efforts to find solutions to problems that affect our competitiveness and viability as a region. As our founders pointed out 65 years ago, our challenges require all to be part of the solution.

We thank each of you for your support. There is much to do and we need the involvement, support and ideas of all GBC members and employees. Together . . . we can make a difference.

GBC at a Glance

Vision, Mission and Regional Perspective

GBC’s Vision
Greater Baltimore—Baltimore City and the five surrounding counties (Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Harford and Howard counties)—will be recognized as a leader in the global economy.

GBC’s Mission
The mission of the Greater Baltimore Committee is to improve the business climate of the Greater Baltimore region by organizing its corporate and civic leadership to develop solutions to the problems that affect the region’s competitiveness and viability.

GBC’s Regional Perspective
Regions, not individual jurisdictions, are the primary economic competitors in the global economy. Successful regions are characterized by healthy and viable core areas, while regions with declining core areas do not perform as well.

The synergy among central cities and the jurisdictions around them is critical to a region’s success. A thriving urban area energizes a region and serves as a catalyst for economic and cultural growth. In Greater Baltimore, strengthening regional ties and collaboration benefits the entire region.

Core Pillars for a Competitive Business Environment
A top priority of the GBC is creating a competitive business environment. In consultation with business and economic development leaders, the GBC identified eight core pillars for a competitive business environment:

- Government leadership that unites with business as a partner. Maryland leaders must set a welcoming tone that communicates positive support for business, respect for the private sector as a partner, not an adversary, and reflects a strategic plan for business growth and job creation.
- A workforce that is highly-educated and meets Maryland’s business needs. Maryland’s secondary and higher education institutions must offer access to quality instruction at all levels and cultivate a workforce that is well-suited to a modern economy and to the specific needs of Maryland’s business sectors.
- Regulatory policies that are streamlined, stable and predictable. Maryland must project to businesses within and outside the state that its government regulatory policies are reasonable, relevant, free of surprises or redundancy, and considerate of businesses’ sense of urgency.
- Tax structure that is fair and competitive. Maryland’s tax policy must be perceived by business as being competitive and devoid of elements that unreasonably target specific businesses or business sectors.
- Competitive costs of doing business. Public policies must reflect a government predisposition to nurture business growth and to avoid arbitrarily or disproportionately imposing additional overhead upon the business sector.
- Superior transportation infrastructure with reliable funding mechanisms. An essential prerequisite of a competitive business environment includes well-funded and maintained highway, transit, port and airport infrastructure that provides reliable and efficient options to move people, goods and services.
- Strategic and effective state investments in business growth. The state must commit to substantive strategic investments, leveraged with capital assets, to nurture business and job growth. Investments should include competitive and effective tax credits, business development incentives, and tactical initiatives to nurture private investment in industry growth.
- Business marketing strategy that is aggressive, coordinated, long-term, and well-funded. Success breeds success. Competitive states celebrate their businesses’ achievements by investing in comprehensive communication and promotion to internal and national audiences of business strengths and the state’s assets as a place to live and work.
Delivering Value to GBC Members

Since its founding in 1955, the GBC has sought to apply private sector leadership and resources to improve the region by identifying issues that are crucial to the region’s business growth and by playing an influential role in developing strategies and implementing action to create change. Stop The Bleed: Life-Saving Education

The Greater Baltimore Committee and the University of Maryland Medical Center’s R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center in Baltimore have partnered to make Stop the Bleed training available to employers in the Baltimore region.

The training provides basic instruction on how to recognize life-threatening bleeding and ways to stop it. Stop the Bleed training is similar to cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training as it provides a way for non-medical personnel to learn proper bleeding control techniques and potentially save lives.

Training includes the ABCs of how to properly control bleeding: (A — alert) call 911; (B — bleeding) locate the bleeding injury; and (C — compress) apply pressure to stop the bleeding by covering the wound with a clean cloth.

Greater Baltimore Committee staff and employees from a number of offices in downtown Baltimore have participated in Stop the Bleed training sessions provided by doctors and nurses from Shock Trauma.

The GBC encourages employers in the Baltimore region that have an interest in organizing a training for employees to contact Teresa Milio Birge, Senior Policy Analyst and Special Assistant at the Greater Baltimore Committee, at (410) 727-2820 or teresab@gbc.org.

Training requests can also be made on the GBC website: gbc.org/stop-the-bleed

Stop the Bleed is an initiative of the American College of Surgeons and the Hartford Consensus. Learn more at: www.bleedingcontrol.org

GBC Finalizes Blueprint for Baltimore’s Economic Success

The Greater Baltimore Committee’s Board of Directors formed a workgroup, led by Mary Ann Scully, Chief Executive Officer and Chair of Howard Bank and Vice Chair of the GBC Board, to develop a blueprint for Baltimore City’s economic success. The Board initiated the group to provide a private-sector influence on the development of a clear, cohesive economic development strategy for Baltimore. The Board approved the group’s Blueprint for Baltimore’s Economic Success in May. It will serve as a roadmap to improve economic development efforts in Baltimore City and is intended to enhance and complement the efforts of the Baltimore Development Corporation, which is working on a federally-mandated Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy.

Arena Workgroup Study Completed

After reviewing several private developers’ conceptual proposals for a new Baltimore arena at Pier 5/Pier 6 and Port Covington, and the feasibility of a renovation of the existing Royal Farms Arena, the GBC Arena Workgroup, led by William J. McCarthy, Executive Director, Associated Catholic Charities, Inc., completed a study on the issue.

GBC Continues to Lead on Transportation

The GBC was highly engaged in 2019 with efforts to create a vision to transform Central Maryland’s transit system into an interconnected multimodal network that moves people and goods throughout the region efficiently. The GBC co-hosted two “Improving Mobility” events in Baltimore to engage employers and residents in the planning process to maximize the potential of development and implementation of the Regional Transit Plan. The GBC also hosted an annual Transportation Summit and participated in the newly created Baltimore Business Mobility Roundtable, which was organized to advocate for the transportation needs of the Greater Baltimore region.

Regional Workforce Development Initiative Continues Work

The GBC Board created the Regional Workforce Development Initiative to ensure that the region’s workforce will have the employees and skills needed to remain competitive in the future. The project, led by Calvin Butler, CEO of BG&E and Vice Chair of the GBC Board, involves a multi-phase analysis to examine the region’s future workforce needs in high-growth, high-demand industries and to identify the skills that will be required to meet those needs over the next 10 years. The initiative’s steering committee is developing an inventory of education and training programs in the region that prepare workers for the identified high-growth occupations. The steering committee and industry leaders will analyze the inventory to determine where training and skill gaps exist and make recommendations for future action.

Strong Focus Continues on Public Safety

The GBC Board has identified as its No. 1 priority helping to improve public safety in Baltimore City. In 2019, the GBC came out in support of new Police Commissioner Michael Harrison’s strategic plan and submitted testimony on state bills including proposals to change sentencing for repeat violent gun crime offenders, establish judicial transparency and provide Baltimore with more resources to fight crime.

New Task Forces Launched

The GBC Board of Directors created two new task forces to study and develop key public policy positions. These include:

- The Baltimore City Government Reform and Ethics Task Force: Members include GBC Board members, as well as business, community and former government leaders. The task force is charged with evaluating charter amendments proposed by members of the Baltimore City Council that would restructure the operations of city government. The task force also is considering proposals to improve ethics and transparency in city government.

- The Harborplace Workgroup: The workgroup was created to unify Baltimore City’s business community, civic leaders and downtown business district stakeholders in response to Harborplace’s placement in receivership. Members of the group will monitor the actions of the receiver, emphasize and advocate the economic importance of Harborplace, and serve as an outside resource for the receiver to protect the best interests of the city.
Coalition for a Second Chance Focuses on Employer Education

The Coalition for a Second Chance, which focuses on policy and programmatic activities that may affect those returning to society after a period of incarceration (referred to as returning citizens) is developing a strategy for engaging employers and policymakers to enhance job opportunities for returning citizens. These efforts are consistent with the group’s goals to increase employer education and engagement in the hiring of returning citizens and to explore and pursue policy and program changes that would enhance educational and job training opportunities to enable returning citizens to connect with job opportunities.

MEMBER ENGAGEMENT

Annual Meeting Sees Strong Attendance

More than 1,000 GBC members, business leaders and elected officials turned out for the GBC’s 64th Annual Meeting on May 13. Those in attendance heard remarks from several speakers, including the keynote speaker, former U.S. Attorney General Rod Rosenstein, who attracted local and national press to the event. His remarks, which included insights on serving as U.S. Deputy Attorney General, made headlines locally and nationally. In addition, the GBC honored Dr. Thomas M. Scalea, Physician-in-Chief of the R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center, and former Baltimore County Executive Donald Mohler at the event. Scalea was honored with the Regional Visionary Award and Mohler was honored with the Walter Sondheim Jr. Public Service Award.

Baltimore Women’s Advisory Board

The Baltimore Women’s Advisory Board (BWAB), through its #bWomen initiative, continued to work on positioning Baltimore as a national leader in gender equality. In 2019, BWAB hosted a well-attended event in March, which featured networking and a discussion about diversity in the workplace. In June, the group hosted #bWomen: The Business Case for Diversity, Inclusion and Equity, featuring guest speaker Aster Angagaw, President of ServiceMaster Brands. The group also hosted a successful October event, How to be an Effective Ally. The event focused on the perspective, experiences and best practices of four male executives who have cultivated diverse and inclusive work environments in the workplace.

GBC’s Inaugural Bridging the Gap: Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Summit

The Greater Baltimore Committee hosted its inaugural Bridging the Gap Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Summit in October in Baltimore. The well-attended event included a presentation by inclusion expert Dr. Steve Robbins and four workshops, during which majority, minority and women-owned business owners discussed strategies for transforming cultures within businesses and across the broader community to be more diverse, equitable and inclusive.

GBC Next Up Program

The GBC’s popular Next Up Program started 2019 with a professional and personal development networking dinner at the Capital Grille. In July, the class of 2018 and 2019 met for a networking hour at the Greater Baltimore Committee. The class of 2019 also participated in a civic engagement and corporate philanthropy event in September, a discussion of the upcoming Baltimore City 2020 elections and a networking reception in December. The program provides learning and networking opportunities for employees of GBC member organizations who are under the age of 40 and have been nominated by their organization’s leadership as having the potential to be in a leadership role within the next few years.
Advocacy

BALTIMORE CITY

GBC Supports Michael Harrison as New Baltimore City Police Commissioner and Bernard C. “Jack” Young as Ex Officio Mayor

The GBC came out in strong support of former New Orleans Police Chief Michael Harrison and his confirmation as Baltimore's new Police Commissioner. The GBC also issued its support for Baltimore City Council President Bernard C. “Jack” Young when he stepped into the role of ex-officio Mayor of Baltimore while former Mayor Catherine Pugh took a leave of absence for health issues.

GBC Calls for Mayor Pugh’s Resignation

In April, the GBC Board called for Baltimore Mayor Catherine Pugh’s resignation in the wake of news reports that she had not fully disclosed lucrative deals, raising serious conflict of interest questions. In a press statement, Donald C. Fry, President and CEO of the GBC, said: “This was a difficult decision requiring a great deal of thought, but the GBC believes the Mayor can no longer provide the leadership and effective government that Baltimore needs and deserves at this time.” Pugh resigned her seat as Mayor soon after the GBC Board called for her resignation. That seat was filled by Baltimore City Council President Bernard C. “Jack” Young, who was serving at the time as ex-officio mayor. (In late 2019, Pugh plead guilty to federal charges filed against her.)

STATE AND REGION

Baltimore Business Day in Annapolis

Members of the GBC Board of Directors and senior staff members joined with GBC President & CEO Donald C. Fry to meet with a number of elected officials and state leaders during the GBC's Baltimore Business Day in Annapolis in January. The annual visit to the state capitol included productive meetings with legislators and top staff members from the Senate of Maryland, Maryland House of Delegates, and Governor's office. The presence of GBC Board members and business executives enhances the GBC’s efforts to serve as the voice of business and shape major public policy matters.

GBC Active in Maryland General Assembly on Key Issues

With 17 new Senators and 43 new Delegates joining the General Assembly in the first legislative session of a four-year term in 2019, a number of important issues were considered that could affect the Greater Baltimore region’s business climate.

Key legislative issues the GBC was involved with included:

- $15 per hour minimum wage: Legislation to raise Maryland’s statewide minimum wage to $15 per hour passed after the previous year’s effort fell short. Governor Larry Hogan vetoed the legislation, but the Senate and House voted to override the veto. The GBC supported the legislation, but with amendments to protect small businesses.

- The Preakness and Pimlico Race Course: The GBC supported legislation to create a Pimlico Race Course Study Workgroup. The GBC also opposed a bill that would allow Racetrack Facility Renewal Account funds to be used to build a “super track” at Laurel Park, owned by The Stronach Group, which sought to move the Preakness to Laurel Race Course. Both bills were unsuccessful. Overall, the outcome was considered a victory for Pimlico and likely set the stage for a subsequent agreement between the city and the Stronach Group that will preserve the Preakness tradition in Baltimore.

- The Blueprint for Maryland’s Future: The General Assembly adopted several recommendations of the Commission for Innovation and Excellence in Education, known as the Kirwan Commission, as part of the Blueprint for Maryland’s Future. The legislature approved $255 million to begin the implementation of changes in teacher salaries, students with disabilities, and expansion of pre-K for low-income four-year-olds in Fiscal Year 2020, which began July 1, 2019. The GBC was supportive of the concepts of the Blueprint and will monitor future funding deliberations.

- Johns Hopkins University police force: The GBC supported legislation which was adopted to authorize Johns Hopkins University to create its own police force.
