2026 Legislative Priorities

The Greater Baltimore Committee (GBC) is the Baltimore Region's leading private-sector leadership organization, representing more than 300 companies, institutions, and civic partners across the city and six-county region. For seven decades, GBC has served as a platform for business leaders to align around shared priorities, mobilize private-sector capacity, and work in partnership with government to advance the region's long-term economic competitiveness.

GBC's work is grounded in a clear premise: durable regional progress requires private-sector leadership, a shared economic agenda, and the coordination necessary to translate policy and investment into results. Guided by its Multi-Year Agenda, GBC provides leadership across 12 priority initiatives spanning economic opportunity, transportation and infrastructure, and collective impact. By building shared frameworks, convening partners, and aligning governance and delivery, GBC ensures that state and federal policy and funding reinforce a regionally defined agenda and support measurable economic and community outcomes.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

GBC plays a central role in strengthening regional economic leadership and coordination: helping to establish shared direction, elevate the Baltimore Region's market credibility, and align public and private partners around long-term growth priorities. The organization led the creation of the Baltimore Region's first coordinated 10-year economic opportunity plan, All In / 2035, providing a common framework for collaboration across priority industries, strategic geographies, workforce alignment, and investment objectives.

To support execution of this agenda, GBC developed a unified regional economic brand through the Bold Moves strategy, reshaping how the Baltimore Region is understood by investors, site selectors, and federal decision-makers. GBC has also helped build the region's capacity to compete for and deploy federal resources by convening partners, coordinating complex initiatives, and establishing the Regional Innovation Office to support multi-partner execution, most notably through the region's successful federal Tech Hub designation.

Through the integration of UpSurge, GBC further strengthened the region's entrepreneurship and innovation ecosystem by improving coordination among startups, capital providers, research institutions, and support organizations. This work enhances the region's ability to grow and retain high-potential companies while ensuring that innovation-driven growth aligns with broader regional economic priorities.

Together, these efforts position state and federal policy and funding as effective complements to a regionally defined agenda—allowing public investment to reinforce shared priorities and translate into sustained private-sector growth.
